National Severe Weather Warning Service

Chief Forecasters Assessment
A frontal band will become more organised and active this evening and overnight, producing some persistent rain, across Northern Ireland, heavy at times across eastern counties. There is some uncertainty over its exact position, but 20-30mm of rain is likely, perhaps locally as much as 40mm, over a 12 hour period. This could lead to some localised flooding.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 00:05 on Wed, 02nd Oct 2013 until 10:00 on Wed, 02nd Oct 2013

Rain will become persistent over eastern parts of Northern Ireland later on Tuesday evening and becoming heavy at times overnight. The rain will die out during Wednesday morning.

The public should be aware of the potential for localised flooding and difficult driving conditions.
